Our Greatest Humanitarian Need: Understanding & Supporting Resilience in Vulnerable Populations

Target audience includes:

Behavioral health professionals, physicians, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses, and others working in healthcare and human services

*Continuing education provided - see registration for details

The COVID-19 pandemic has disproportionately impacted vulnerable populations leaving them more at risk of suffering the effects of oppression.

This presentation will guide participants to:

- Understand the critical need to protect vulnerable families during this crisis (and beyond) in order to mitigate generational stress
- Learn about the adoption of anti-oppression beliefs and practices to use with patients at risk

Presented by Cassie Yackley, Psy.D

Master trainer and trauma-responsive practice content expert, Dr. Yackley is the founder and owner of the Center for Trauma Responsive Practice Change.
